Sunday Reflection

"They have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." Rev 7:14

Easter was celebrated a few weeks ago with great joy and beauty. As we celebrate the Good News of the Resurrection, new Catholics are baptized and welcomed into the Church family, children receive their First Holy Communion, and teens are confirmed. Churches are filled to capacity for all these celebrations.

But this year, Easter was marred by the shocking news that Catholic churches in Sri Lanka had been bombed. The body count was still rising when I left for Mass. I looked around at the joyful faces and happy families, and could not imagine anyone bombing a parish just like this at Easter Mass. I thought about what it would mean if going to Mass that morning led to the end of our earthly lives, as it had for hundreds of Sri Lankan Christians. Relatives bereaved. Families wiped out. Children, including many who had just received their First Communion, were suddenly gone.

It was reported that a Sunday school teacher asked some of the Sri Lankan children if they would give their lives for Jesus. They all raised their hands. Within minutes, many children joined the ranks of the martyrs. We, like these martyred children, must also be ready to give our lives for Christ. Be prepared to follow Him, even to the cross. Believe in His promise, "My sheep hear my voice; I know them, and they follow me. I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish."

John's Revelation, read today, testifies to the reality of Christ's promise of eternal life. Written in a time of persecution, his vision shows that the martyred saints live eternally, standing before the throne of God holding palms of victory. There, it is promised, "God will wipe away every tear from their eyes."

The persecution of Christians continues and intensifies. At the end of the second millennium, John Paul II said, "The Church has become once again a Church of martyrs." Let us pray for all who died in the Easter Sunday massacre. And let us confidently ask these new saints, not yet canonized but surely standing before the throne of God, to lift up their prayers for us who remain.

Spiritual Practices

Ignatian Spirituality

The Spiritual Exercises bring us to a place where we share everything we have with Jesus our beloved, as he shares everything with us. St. Ignatius, in a vision at La Sorta, Spain, saw Jesus as all heart, full of mercy, compassion and love. Throughout Christian history, Jesus' heart has been a sign of his divine love. From it flows all love, including family peace, consolation during stress, and mercy for sinners. Sacred Heart of Jesus devotion is important to, and a part of Ignatian Spirituality. Jesuits are some of the most active promoters of the devotion to the Sacred Heart.

The last SEEL Group meeting for this retreat year is Monday, May 13, 6:30 – 8:30 p.m., in the Holy Spirit Parish Activity Center, Kennewick. Participants and alums are welcome. For more information, please see <https://spiritual-exercises.com>.

Franciscan Spirituality

Would you like to give more time to God, but wonder how to do that when your life is so busy? Do you long for holiness, and feel a need for support in growing spiritually? Perhaps your heart has been moved by stories of St. Francis of Assisi, or the Peace Prayer attributed to him, and you are seeking that same holy simplicity, true peace and perfect joy? If so, Christ may be calling you to explore the Secular Franciscan life. We'd be happy to meet with you and to share about our Franciscan journey. Contact Bob Fitzsimmons at bofitzofs@gmail.com, www.tcfran.org, or 521-9387.

Carmelite Corner

Join the Church in praying the following intercessions for Easter Season:

- All-holy Father, you brought your beloved Son Jesus from the darkness of death into the splendor of your glory, bring us also into your marvelous light.
- You have given us faith to save us, may we live today by the faith of our baptism.
- You command us to seek the things that are above, where Christ is seated at your right hand, do not let us be deceived by the allurements of sin.

Reflect on the following portion of Preface IV of Easter:

- For, with the old order destroyed, a universe cast down is renewed, and integrity of life is restored to us in Christ.
