Sunday Reflection

Branching Out Isn't Always What It's Cracked Up to Be

"That's a really beautiful tree branch. Man, would you look at the bark on that thing? The others are real duds, but that low-hanging branch has really got it all together."

I've never heard anyone say this. Maybe I just need to hang out with more arborists, but I can't recall ever hearing someone admire the particular beauty of a single branch. When someone comments on a tree, it's usually the whole tree — perhaps a visual element of it, like the color of the leaves or its height. But people don't usually zero in on one branch.

Maybe that's because usually, if one branch is looking a little weak, chances are every other branch is, too.

The Bible tells us that when we bear fruit as good everyday stewards, it is for the Father's glory. We are the branch on His magnificent tree. What we have is from Him, and what we do likewise points back to Him. We also tend to reflect how well the other branches around us are incorporating the nutrients coming their way. That's all fine and good in theory. In practice, it can be an arduous exercise in humility.

When I do something virtuous or charitable or kind, there is a part of me that wants to stand out for it. I think that's true for all of us. We've given of ourselves in some way or overcome some human temptation to accomplish a little bit of good in this world, and even though we know God sees us, we'd really love for everyone else to see it, too.

It's a struggle, for sure. But we need to remember that our fruit belongs to the whole tree.

Rosary in May for an End to the Pandemic

Pope Francis has invited Catholics and Marian Shrines around the world to dedicate the month of May to a marathon of prayer for an end to the Covid-19 pandemic. You can read about his message here:

<https://www.vaticannews.va/en/pope/news/2021-04/pope-francis-shrines-may-2021-prayer-end-pandemic.html>

Spiritual Practices

Ignatian Spirituality

One of the first principles a retreatant prayerfully explores through the Ignatian Spiritual Exercises is how God creates us moment by moment. So, unlike a fundamentalist belief that God created everything in six days and then stopped, we believe that God is Creator. So by nature, He is always creating. This promotes hope; we know God isn't finished with us yet. It also teaches us to appreciate how much God loves us in the present, always calling us into being, into the resurrection. Christian spirituality flows from this loving creation, and teaches us to rely on God for our growth and change.

For this year's participants, the next meeting of the Spiritual Exercises in Everyday Life (SEEL) will be May 8 at 9 a.m. online. The theme will be the Gifts of the Spiritual Exercises. To learn more about SEEL or watch the presentation after the meeting, please visit <http://spiritual-exercises.com>.

Benedictine Spirituality

In many printed copies of the Rule of St. Benedict, you'll see three dates listed at the beginning of a section. That's because Benedict wants us to read through the Rule three times a year. We begin again with the Prologue on May 2. 'Listen....'

If Benedictine spirituality interests you, contact Betsy at 430-1962.

Carmelite Corner

Solemn Intercessions from Good Friday

During the Good Friday service, 10 Solemn Intercessions are universally lifted in prayer. They are provided here for you to call them to mind and bring them to God in your private prayer as well.

2. For the Pope

Let us pray also for our most Holy Father Pope Francis that our God and Lord, who chose him for the Order of Bishops, may keep him safe and unharmed for the Lord's holy Church, to govern the holy People of God.

Almighty ever-living God,
by whose decree all things are founded,
look with favor on our prayers
and in your kindness protect the Pope chosen for us, that, under him, the Christian people,
governed by you their maker,
may grow in merit by reason of their faith.
Through Christ our Lord. Amen

Missalettes

If you'd like to have a guide to Mass and music:

As we return to increased attendance at Mass, and more options for singing, it can be challenging to follow along with the readings and music.

While we can't provide the Breaking Bread missalettes this year, because they can't be shared as in the past, here are a couple of options for you:

- The books are available for purchase from Oregon Catholic Press (www.ocp.org). A hard copy is $17.
- An app in both the Android and Apple app stores provides a downloadable copy of this year's Breaking Bread missalette for $4.99.

Bring a book or your tablet or phone to Mass or use them at home! Remember to take them home if you use them at church.
